ALL-IN

Will Koopman

Seven close friends gather for a dinner party. What starts out as a fun night changes when one of them suggests playing a game. Everyone puts their phone on the table and all calls, texts, emails and other social media messages, must be shared openly. As the evening continues, the friends get to know each other from another side. What secrets do they keep, and how well do they actually know each other?

ANNE+

Valerie Bisscheroux

After the worldwide success of the series ANNE+, Anne returns in a feature film.

Two weeks before Anne moves from Amsterdam to Montréal to join her great love Sara, she receives bad news. Her publisher hasn't approved her manuscript and therefore won't publish her first novel. What story does Anne have to tell, they want to know. This forces Anne to try and work out what she actually wants out of life, and while connecting with her queer identity she stumbles in her search for direction and clarity. As she starts to rewrite her novel, she realizes she has some important choices to make.

BULADÓ

Eché Janga

BULADÓ tells the magical-realistic and heartwarming story of a small family in the countryside of Curaçao. As the different mentalities of rational father Ouirá and spiritual grandfather Weljo start to clash, eleven-year-old Kenza is determined to find her own path into adult life.

Kenza (11) lives in a house on a salvage yard together with her father Ouirá, her grandfather Weljo and stray dog Tjenko. The two men in her life are opposites: her father is a police officer and a rational man, while her grandfather favours the spiritual world connected to the history of the islands. Kenza hovers in-between these two worlds until the sadness about the loss of loved ones, opens her eyes and she becomes receptive to the mystical, comforting traditions of her grandfather.

DIRKJE BAKKES, NETTLE SPECIALIST (WORKING TITLE)

KIDS & FAMILY

Jelle de Jonge

Dirkje (8), an imaginative boy who's not allowed to go to school, grows up in a nettle plantation with his aunt and uncle. Can he escape their regime and pursue his dreams in the wide world?

Dirkje, a bright kid with green fingers, lives on a nettle plantation with his Uncle Griep and Aunt Fop. He has seen nothing in his life other than this plantation. He never learned to read or write, because Griep and Fop think that is nonsense. Their only entertainment is to watch the soap Beautiful People, while eating lots of chocolates. When Griep goes to the city, Fop watches the programme on her own, silently smitten with one of the main roles, and all the time "dealing" in nettle herbs at the farm gate.

EL HOUB

Shariff Nasr

Karim returns to his parental home to tell his Moroccan parents that he is attracted to men. After years of keeping up appearances, the word is finally out.

The Moroccan-Dutch Karim returns to his parental home to tell his parents that he is attracted to men. After years of keeping up appearances, the word is finally out. The difficult conversations in the days that follow evoke beautiful and poignant memories that teach him that he has to break through the silent culture in his family by starting to confront them. At the same time, he must come to terms with himself before he can expect acceptance from them at all. Inspired on personal experiences of main actor Fahd Larhzaoui and others.

FEAST

Tim Leyendekker

Based on the infamous Groningen HIV case, in which three men drugged other men and infected them with their own HIV-infected blood. This film reconstructs the resulting, controversial court case.

FEAST is a bold and provocative film that skillfully reflects the questions of life, death and morality that have emerged from one of the most disquieting stories in contemporary Dutch life.

Unfolding over seven individual vignettes, each directed by Tim Leyendekker but shot in collaboration with a diverse range of cinematographers, FEAST blends reportage and surrealism, disbelief and empathy to unpack the repercussions and reverberations of a singularly shocking series of events.

IF YES, OKAY

Dick Verdult

Black comedy by director Dick Verdult about Amy, a 16-year-old girl from a wealthy family who has never been told "no" her entire life.

Amy is a young girl from a wealthy family who has never been refused anything. To relieve her boredom, she decides one day to hire a complete theater company to have scenes from her life reenacted in a shed set up as a theater near her parental home. Gradually, as theater and reality begin to intermingle more and more, Amy discovers that, contrary to what she has always been told, the world cannot be so easily designed and easily controlled. ## SINKHOLE (WORKING TITLE)

KIDS &
FAMILY

Tim Oliehoek

On the dividing line between childhood and puberty, four misfits go on an adventure once again to discover the mystery of a mysterious sinkhole, but what they discover the most is themselves, the value of their friendship and girls!

Summer: Lars (11) just wants to be with his best mates, but they're all busy. So he comes up with "the greatest adventure of all time", a sinkhole on the other side of the forest. This appeals to the boys' imagination. What is it? What's in it? In Lars' fantasies it's all kinds of things. But his friends still have other things on their minds. Pimme has to move house, Niels wants to help his inventor dad and Kevin has a girlfriend. Lars must therefore use all of his powers to persuade them.

THE LAST RIDE OF THE WOLVES

Alberto de Michele

My father is an elderly Italian criminal. When he told me about his plan to rob an armored truck in Italy, I decided to follow the preparations for the heist.

Pasquale is an ageing Italian crook who lost his fortune through his gambling addiction. He is also my father, and the antihero of my life. He recently told me he was planning his last big heist together with a gang of thieves. I decided to follow them during the preparations. This film gives us access to a world that is normally off-limits for outsiders, but as importantly it has given me the chance to unfold where I come from and highlight the role my father has played in my being.

CHARACTER

Mike van Diem

Eye has restored Mike van Diem's directorial debut CHARACTER. In 1998, the film won the Oscar® for Best Foreign Language Film and a Golden Calf at NFF in 1997.

Mike van Diem based the scenario on the classic novel and a posthumously published novella Karakter by writer F. Bordewijk. The film is located in Rotterdam before WWII and tells the story of the ruthless bailiff Dreverhaven (monumentally portrayed by Jan Decleir) who is feared by many. His ambitious and stubborn illegitimate son Katadreuffe (Fedja van Huêt's breakthrough role) decides, after bankruptcy, to become a lawyer.
